DEATH CLAIMS MAJ. MOREHEAD

The End Came Early
Sunday Morning.

Had Been In Failing Health For Some Time, But Did Not Give Up Until Last Few Weeks—Was One of Oldest and Most Beloved Citizens of Greensboro—Funeral Yesterday Afternoon From First Presbyterian Church.

Major Joseph M. Morehead, one of Greensboro's most honored and prominent citizens, passed away at his home on South Eugene street, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. He had for some time been a sufferer from a severe case of stomach trouble, though his health had been far from favorable during the past five years, he having fallen in 1905 at the fourth of July celebration of that year, under an attack of sun stroke at the Battle ground, while laboring in the heat of a very oppressive temperature, and under the weight of his arduous responsibilities as president of the Battle Ground Association.

In July two years later he suffered a second stroke on a similar occasion, at which time his physician expressed an opinion that a survival would be next to miraculous. But Major Morehead was always hopeful, and fought manfully to the very last against his physical infirmities. Only a few weeks ago when the news of his severe illness was chronicled, he promptly sent out word that if he received a certain piece of encouraging news from Washington, he would be at the Battle Ground to attend any jubilee incident to the event.

The great work of developing and ornamenting the Guilford Battle Ground lay nearest his heart; and a few weeks ago, despite the protests of his family and friends, he could not resist the zealous impulse and overwhelming desire to go as the leading member of a party to accompany Vice President Sherman to Guilford's historic field of battle, where he had peculiar delight in pointing out scenes and places of interest to the distinguished visitor, and enlarging upon facts relatives to them.

Major Morehead was born in Greensboro in 1840, and was well known and beloved by all the city's oldest citizens, as well as by many of her more recent comers. He was a man of genial and friendly bearing, interesting and engaging in conversation, and was conscious of as little enmity as any man that could be named with a career of so much usefulness to society and the state.

Upon reaching his majority, he received his license to practice law, having prepared for his examination under the direction of Chief Justice Pearson, of Richmond Hill, and continued in the profession until 1871. He had been for many years acting president of the Guilford Battle Ground Association, and for some time had been laboring with untiring zeal to have the Battle Ground become a national enterprise under the direct control and supervision of the government. It seems unfortunate that he could not have lived to see his patriotic hope consummated, for it now seems certain that such event will be celebrated at no very distant day.

Major Morehead's father was James T. Morehead, of Rockingham county, who married Miss Mary T. Lindsay, of Guilford county, both of whom have long since passed away. On Nov. 8, 1883, Maj. Morehead was happily married to Miss Mary Christian Jones and of this union there were four children. Mrs. Morehead and one son, James T. Morehead, Jr., survive. A brother, Col. James T. Morehead, also survives.

When the Civil war began Major Morehead enlisted as a private in the Guilford Grays and was soon appointed a first lieutenant in the Second North Carolina State Troops. Because of ill health he had to abandon the service soon afterwards, however. In 1885 he began active life in Greensboro.

Major Morehead was an active member of the First Presbyterian church and his devotion to his church was as untiring as were his efforts along other lines. As is stated above Major Morehead's greatest public work was in connection with Guilford Battle Ground. Through his efforts scores of monuments have been erected and unveiled on this historic spot, notably among these being the monuments to Greene, Davidson, Nash, Judge Schenck, Mrs. Turner, the heroine.

Nor has been Major Morehead's labors in the patriotic patriotism been limited to the Battle Ground. He has been an investigator into the obscure annals of State history, and has made valuable contributions to historical literature. Chief among his publications is his interesting and admirable pamphlet on "James Hunter, General of the Regulators," which does full justice to the men engaged in the Regulation movement, and presents that subject in an aspect that appeals to the sympathies of patriotic people.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at four o'clock conducted by his pastor, Rev. Melton Clark. Particularly touching was the sight of several of the old family servants, who stood with bowed heads and evident anguish of heart, as they reflected reminiscently of the time when their master took them with him on the chase and as assisting companions on fishing trips during those happy days up on the "old plantation." Dr. Clark spoke feelingly and with simple impressiveness of the worth of the man as a citizen, a husband, and a father, and read, as an expression of his faith in an allwise Divinity, a poem which the Major himself wrote soon after the death of Eugene Morehead. After the reading of the poem, the minister announced hymn No. 325, "How Firm a Foundation," and here took the opportunity to speak of the Major's love for the old hymns. "Only a few days ago," said Mr. Clark, "I was with him and we were talking of the old songs. He mentioned his favorites, and I began singing one, and despite his weakness, he joined in. His was a gentle disposition, and his love for history, for God's word and His people were among his noblest attributes. He never spoke harshly of any one, and chose rather to remain silent than to say unkind things about his fellowman. And in his declining days he could look ahead and face death without a murmur and with faith firm fixed in the Giver of all good."

A solo, "The Christian's Good Night," was sung by Miss Eugenia Patterson, and "Gathering Home" was sung as a quartet by Mrs. R. G. Vaughn, Mrs. W. E. Ireland, Messrs. W. M. Richardson and J. H. Rankin, Jr. The service throughout was one of simplicity and impressiveness, and such was the life of the man whose memory was thus honored. There was a large floral offering and a concourse of friends were present to pay their last tribute of respect.

The following were the pall bearers: Honorary pall bearers members of the Guilford Battle Ground Company—Capt. J. W. Fry, J. W. Scott, Judge R. M. Douglas, J. Van Lindley, W. E. Beville, Capt. Neil Ellington, Maj. C. M. Stedman, S. Wittkowski, of Charlotte; J. A. Odell, Paul Schenck, William Love.

Active—H. D. Blake, R. G. Glenn, Col. J. A. Barringer, Dr. B. B. Williams, W. R. Land, John L. Thacker.

Flower bearers—C. C. Frazier, Carter Dalton, George Crawford, Martin Douglas.

BIG SOCIAL EVENT

The Annual New Year's Reception and Dance at M. & M. Club.

Last evening in the Merchants and Manufacturers' Club rooms was held the annual New Year's reception and dance. The rooms were appropriately and seasonably decorated, and music was furnished by Hood's orchestra.

In the receiving line were:

Dr. and Mrs. Robeson, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Merrimon, Dr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Cone, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mearns.

Punch was served by Misses Mary Benbow, Annie McVey, Eloise Dick, Kate Hardy, and Annie Merritt.

The decorations were by Lindley. Luncheon was served at eleven o'clock. A large number of the younger social set attended the reception and the occasion was one of the social events of the season.

MEETING OF MINISTERS.

Officers Elected—Interesting Paper Read—Evangelistic Services.

Yesterday morning at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, W. F. Staley; vice president, E. K. McLarty; secretary, Shuford Peeler.

Rev. T. J. Ogburn read a paper on "The Sinfulness of Sin," the same being discussed with interest by the members present.

Evangelistic services began Sunday in all the protestant churches of the city, and reports are that the attendance was large, considering the inclemency of the weather.

STUBBORN FIRE ON SOUTH ELM

Damage Will Probably be $75,000.

Blaze Over Isaacson's, J. H. West's and Oppleman's in Third Story of Old Fields' Building—About Three Hours of Fire Fighting—The Major Portion of Damage From Water, Which Literally Soaked Stocks In Stores.

One of the worst fires that has visited Greensboro in several years occurred last night when the old Fields' building owned by R. L. Vernon and H. M. Coble on South Elm street was partially destroyed by the flames. The fire was discovered about 6 o'clock on the third floor about midway between the front and rear ends of the building. Five streams of water were soon playing on the flames, two being augmented by steam pressure from the engine. It was after eight o'clock before the steady flow of water was checked and some of the streams were continued until nearly nine o'clock.

The fire being on the third story and the Hook and Ladder outfit being in the shop for repairs the flames were exceedingly hard to get at. The alarm was from 42, which brought out the entire department. It was at a time when the clerks were leaving for supper and they, or at least many of them did, decided to watch the firemen rather than get supper so for the entire block the sidewalk was packed and jammed with spectators. They remained until the flames had been almost totally subdued. The street in front of the building was roped off for fear the walls might give way and to give the firefighters room to work.

The portion of the building owned by R. L. Vernon was occupied on the first floor and a portion of the second by I. Isaacson, there were some roomers occupying the remainder of the second floor. The stores owned by H. M. Coble were occupied by J. H. West and J. Oppleman. The second floor was occupied by Stout Bros., printers, the United States recruiting office and J. H. West. The entire third floor was used as a storeroom for all kinds of plunder. It was on the third floor that the fire raged mainly, no fire of consequence getting below the second floor. The tin roof fell in about the middle and this prevented the streams of water from striking at the root of the fire with full force. However the fire boys kept working the best they could and at no time was there any danger of the flames spreading.

The fire was first discovered by a roomer, who was going up to get some linen for a laundryman. The smoke was oozing out through the cracks of the door, apparently coming from the third floor over the printing establishment of Stout Bros. He at once gave the alarm and the firemen were soon on the scene. On account of the winding stairways it was practically impossible to get a line of hose up inside the building for effective use. Two streams were poured in through the second and third story windows on the front while a third was used at the head of the first flight of steps. Two streams were used in the rear. The building was about 150 feet in length and the heart of the fire was about the middle. The plunder on the third floor burned fiercely and, having gotten a good start before the firemen were called out, was most stubborn. Soon the tin roof gave way in the center right over the bulk of the fire and nothing could be done to get the streams direct on the fiercest portion of the fire. Practically all the stuff stored on the third floor was burned up, as was the major portion of the second floor.

The water pressure was fine and the engine did good work, keeping the stream strong enough to have knocked a man down ten feet away. It was no trouble to send the stream far above the top of the burning building. The old engine, "General Greene," was on hand but was not needed.

The damage will be probably $75,000, partly covered by insurance. I Isaacson's stock of clothing and furnishings was worth $30,000 or more, partially covered by insurance. With the exception of goods stored on the second floor the loss was by water, but the entire stock was literally soaked. Mr. Isaacson stated last night that his insurance would not cover more than half his loss.

CONTEST FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Democrats Will Hold
Caucus Tonight.

W. C. Dowd the Leading Candidate—Others Who Want Positions—Piedmont County Advocates Open Up Headquarters For Fight For New County—State House Improvements Completed.

Raleigh, Jan. 2.—W. C. Dowd, leading candidate for the speakership of the House of Representatives, arrived here this morning and has opened headquarters at the Yarrowborough, with a number of his Mecklenburg supporters lined up with him, as they express it to see that the election Tuesday night is made unanimous. His avowed competitors now are E. M. Koonce, Onslow county, and R. H. Battle, of Wake, Mr. Battle not being an active candidate except through the presentation of his name by his friends. It is expected that the real fight will be between Dowd and Koonce and it looks like Dowd will win in spite of the recent criticism passed upon his candidacy on account of the Baptist State Convention resolutions protesting against what was declared to be support for the state educational institutions that was unjust to the denominational colleges. Mr. Dowd has through his friends denied that he entertains any such views as were expressed in the resolutions and it looks like he will not lose anything like as many votes on this account as it was first expected that he would. T. G. Cobb is asking reelection to the principal clerkship in the House and George L. Kilpatrick as sergeant at arms. The reading clerkship for the House seems to be going a begging as there are now no avowed candidates. It may go to F. B. Arrandell of Raleigh, if he will take it. He has served a number of terms.

The first "lobby" to actively open up for the impending session of the Legislature is composed of the advocates of Piedmont county which it is desired to form out of parts of Guilford, Davidson, and Randolph with High Point as the county seat. J. J. Farriss, chairman of the executive committee, has opened headquarters in Yarrowborough hotel and there will be a number of campaigners from High Point and other sections of the territory involved here constantly to press the fight throughout the session, or as they express it "until they are given what they ask." Col. Wescott Robinson is chairman of the legislative committee. This promises to be the overshadowing "new county issue."

The state house improvements in the way of a complete ventilating system and new heating and lighting equipment are all completed and the place is in readiness for the occupancy by the General Assembly for the next sixty days under the most comfortable conditions that any North Carolina legislature has ever enjoyed. For ventilation the fan exhaust system has been installed with an immense exhaust electric fan in the roof over the Senate chamber. It will change the air in both the legislative halls every twenty minutes. A conduit system of electric wiring has been installed throughout the building and especially handsome chandeliers and other fixtures installed. They are of Grecian design to correspond with the architectural design of the building. They make an immense improvement in the appearance of halls and corridors. The work has been under the direction of Frank Thompson, architect and by the Carolina Electrical Construction Co., Raleigh.

CITY GOSPEL MISSION

Opened by Bible and Literary Training School—First Service Held Last Night. Prepared For The Telegram.

The Bible and Literary Training school has opened a city gospel mission on North Greene street near the county jail and held its first service last night at 7:30. A very good crowd was present and God met with us and one soul was gloriously saved. The mission is to be permanent and will be an open door for all who desire to hear the gospel in its fullness and power.

There will be preaching there each evening at 7:30 p. m., throughout this week. We solicit the prayers and co-operation of all the good people of the city that many souls may be saved through the agency of this mission. All are invited to come.

MR. WEATHERLY'S FUNERAL.

Services Held From Church of Covenant Yesterday Afternoon—Interment At Green Hill.

The funeral of Mr. Andrew Weatherly, whose sad death was mentioned Sunday morning, was held from the Church of the Covenant, Walker avenue and Mendenhall street, of which the deceased was a deacon, yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. M. Williams, assisted by Rev. Melton Clark. The services were of a simple nature, but very beautiful and impressively sad. The choir sang those old hymns, Nearer My God to Thee, Sweet Hour of Prayer and Asleep in Jesus.

A large concourse of friends and relatives were present to attend the last sad rites and there was a profusion of floral designs.

Following the services the remains were interred in Green Hill cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: W. L. Clement, Robt. A. Sills, J. R. Brown, C. C. McLean, J. M. Kirkland, W. O. Stratford. The honorary pall bearers were from Greensboro Council, No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M., of which the deceased was a member.

A SURPRISE MARRIAGE

Mr. Earl M. Ireland and Miss Eunice M. Sheppard Wedded Last Night.

A marriage which will come in the nature of a surprise to many, as the preparations for it were kept very quiet, was solemnized last night at 9 o'clock by Rev. T. J. Ogburn at his home on Eugene street.

The principals to the happy contract were Mr. Earl M. Ireland, proprietor of the Ireland shoe store, and Miss Eunice M. Sheppard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Sheppard, of Elam avenue. The marriage was purposely quiet and informal and was attended only by relatives and close friends of the couple.

When the vows had been spoken, Mr. and Mrs. Ireland and the guests at the wedding were driven in automobiles to the station where the bridal couple boarded train No. 38 for a wedding journey which will include stops in Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Haverhill and Lynn, Mass.

The bride is a young woman of most attractive personality. The groom, who is a son of Mrs. Mollie C. Ireland, 307 E. Sycamore street, is a progressive and energetic young business man and has a host of friends who will unite in wishing him a thoroughly happy married life.

A SURPRISE WEDDING.

Mr. R. T. Edwards and Miss Sue Latta Wedded Sunday Afternoon.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. W. L. Myers, 315 Walker avenue, Rev. Leon E. Smith, pastor of the Christian church, performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Mr. Richard T. Edwards and Miss Sue Latta. The couple had not informed their friends of this intended step and the ceremony was attended by only the close relatives and friends who were taken into confidence at the last minute.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Kate Latta and is a charming and attractive young lady. The groom is connected with the Guilford Hotel Barber Shop, being a brother of the proprietor, and is a popular young man. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will reside with Mr. Myers.

Fine Display of Game.

There was a fine lot of game displayed in front of the Hennessee restaurant yesterday including a fine deer. The deer was killed in the eastern part of the state by a party of sportsmen from Danville and Reidsville, Capt. J. W. Peay, of Reidsville, being among the number. In addition to the deer, Manager Smith had on display two very fine wild turkeys, also a long string of quail. In the Hennessee advertisement today the prices of the venison in various styles of cooking are given.

Presented With Cuff Buttons.

The salesladies of the Ellis, Stone & Company yesterday morning presented Mr. D. G. Craven, the retiring manager of the store, with a handsome pair of gold cuff buttons as a token of the high esteem in which he was held by them. Mr. Craven is to go to Winston, where he will engage in business for himself. He is held in high esteem here by all who know him and have had dealings with him, who bespeak for him much success in his venture.

Of two evils it is natural to choose the one that is least likely to be found out.

For sale. 20 shares of stock Dixie Laundry Machinery Manufacturing Co., par value $100.00. Will sell at $60.00 a share. Box 519.

EX-JUDGE ADAMS CUTS HIS THROAT

Makes Desperate Attempt to End Life.

Rash Deed Believed to Have Been Committed During Momentary Insanity—Was A Patient At Keely Institute—Hurried To Hospital and Unless Complications Arise Has Fine Chance For Recovery—No Reason For the Act.

His many friends throughout the city were greatly shocked yesterday morning on learning that ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams, one of the most prominent citizens of the city, had on Sunday evening made a desperate effort to end his life by slashing his throat with a razor. No reason is given for the rash act and it is believed that it occurred during a moment of mental aberration.

Judge Adams was hurried to St. Lee's Hospital soon after the occurrence and at midnight last night he was resting well, having had a good sleep. Unless complications arise he has a fine chance for recovery. The wound was somewhat under the chin and this fact probably saved his life for had the cut been two inches lower the jugular vein would more than probably be severed.

While it was not generally known Judge Adams had not been in the best of health for some time. He went to Jacksonville, Fla., on business about two weeks ago and since his return had been all torn up. He was attacked with what is commonly termed the "jimmies," but it was not known that he used liquor to excess. It is believed that he drank too much at one time and then suddenly resolved to give up the habit, bringing on the attack by the reaction. On last Thursday Col. Osborn, at his request, visited Judge Adams at his home and had a confidential talk with him. At that time his nervous system was shattered and Col. Osborn suggested that he go to some sanitarium, but he refused. Col. Osborn then suggested that he go to Keely as his special guest, being thus at liberty to leave at any time his business required it, provided he was physically able.

This was agreeable and on Thursday he entered the institution, being placed under the care of an attendant. He seemed to improve rapidly and conversed with the attendants and frequently with Col. Osborn. He seemed to be gaining strength and it was thought that he would be able to go downstairs yesterday. All day Sunday he was as cheerful as usual, asking Col. Osborn about his wife and little boy, to whom he was much attached. Sunday night a few minutes past eight he went into the bath room, the attendant accompanying him to the door. He was as cheerful as usual at this time. After waiting for several minutes the attendant looked in and was startled to see the unfortunate man lying on the floor with a gash across his throat and a razor lying on the floor. Assistance was summoned and a physician soon stopped the flow of blood. Several physicians were soon on the scene and they at once hurried the wounded man to the hospital.

It appears that after going in the room Judge Adams saw the razor lying handy and was overcome with a momentary desire to end his life. He could easily have completed his work of self-destruction had he so desired, for after the attendant found him he raised himself and spit a mouthful of blood into a receptacle. The razor had been thrown on the floor after the first swipe and it seems that as soon as he drew blood the unfortunate man regained his senses and regretted his rash action. As he was being taken to the ambulance he shook hands with Col. Osborn and said he was sorry for his action. He stated practically the same thing to the attendant who found him in the room.

Students Coming In.

The incoming trains last night brought many students of the State Normal and G. F. Colleges, who went home for the holidays. The train from the east brought in several hundred students, special cars meeting them at the station and carrying them direct to the two colleges. The trains today will be loaded also.

DO IT NOW.

Greensboro People Should Not Wait Until it is Too Late.

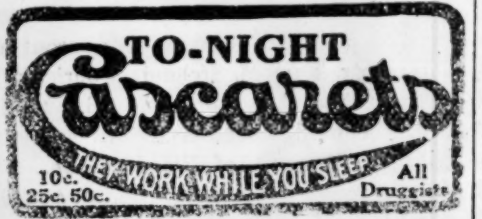

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them.

Here is one of many cases in this vicinity. W. C. Blagg, Mendenhall St., Burlington, N. C., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and am well pleased with the results. I suffered for some time from a dull ache in the small of my back, caused by disordered kidneys. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box. Judging from my own experience, I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MRS LONGWORTH'S GOWN LOST.

But New York Dressmaker Quickly Sends Similar One.

Washington Herald.

Listen, girls! Supposing you had planned to attend the Tafts' New Year reception, and supposing you had ordered the daintiest gown ever—if you are a girl—and supposing you were anxiously awaiting its delivery—when a horrid man should call you up and say the dress had been stolen from an express wagon. Wouldn't it peeve you unspeakably?

Of course it would. Well, that's just what happened to Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, daughter of former President Roosevelt.

Just when everything had been arranged and Mrs. Longworth thought her troubles with the dressmakers were over, a telegram came from New York. It was from Farquharson & Wheelock, dressmakers, and contained the information that Mrs. Longworth's ball gown had been stolen from an Adams Express Company wagon in New York.

Immediately there was consternation in the Longworth household. Mrs. Longworth immediately indited a telegram, saying she wanted a gown and was going to have one, and what were Farquharson & Wheelock going to do about it?

You'd have done the same thing, wouldn't you? Of course, you would.

The dressmakers immediately got busy. There was another gown in stock similar to the one that had been stolen. It was made ready for shipment yesterday and was started on its way to Washington under heavy guard.

Mrs. Longworth will have her New Year's reception gown all right. That's certain, but those horrid express companies ought to be more careful—eh, girls? Of course, they should.

Saves Two Lives.

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery," writes A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 8, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. ## Deadly Pulque.

In spite of her long years of independence Mexico has not solved the drink problem. The national drink of the poorer classes is pulque (pronounced "poolkay"), the fermented offspring of a plant resembling the aloe. It tastes like stale buttermilk dashed with a strong dose of stagnant water and must be drunk within twenty-four hours of fermentation. Its action is instant and powerful, and its speedy results are softening of the brain, paralysis of the nerves and death. So deadly are its effects that no employer of labor will employ a peon from the pulque making districts until he has tried everywhere else.—Chicago News.

Expecting Too Much.

It was a cold, raw day, but the Nev-ersweats and the Fearoughts were playing a game of ball on the prairie just the same.

"The pitcher for the Nev-ersweats, his fingers half frozen, failed dismally in getting the balls over the plate.

"Aw," said the captain, "I t'ought ye wuz one o' dese cold weather pitchers!"

"I am," said the slab artist, blowing on his benumbed digits to warm them, "but I ain't a ice pitcher, blame ye!"—Chicago Tribune.

PURE GLYCERIN.

It is a Queer Substance Endowed With Peculiar Properties.

One of the great advantages of glycerin in its chemical employment is the fact that it neither freezes nor evaporates under any ordinary temperature. No perceptible loss by evaporation has been detected at a temperature less than 200 degrees F., but if heated intensely it decomposes with a smell that few persons find themselves able to endure. It burns with a pale flame, similar to that from alcohol, if heated to about 300 degrees and then ignited. Its nonvolatile qualities make the compound of much use as a vehicle for holding pigments and colors, as in stamping and typewriter ribbons, carbon papers and the like.

If the pure glycerin be exposed for a long time to a freezing temperature it crystallizes with the appearance of sugar candy, but these crystals being once melted it is almost an impossibility to get them again into the congealed state. If a little water be added to the glycerin no crystallization will take place, though under a sufficient degree of cold the water will separate and form crystals, amid which the glycerin will remain in its natural state of fluidity. If suddenly subjected to intense cold pure glycerin will form a gummy mass which cannot be entirely hardened or crystallized. Altogether it is quite a peculiar substance.

A Historic Spot.

Linlithgow palace, on the shore of the beautiful sheet of water of that name in Scotland, is somewhat square and heavy looking. Linlithgow was the birthplace of Mary, queen of Scots; in Linlithgow church James IV. of Scotland was forewarned by an apparition of the coming disaster at Flodden Field; in its streets the regent Murray was shot; close by the town Edward I. had two ribs broken by his horse the night before Falkirk, and on its loch a chancellor of the exchequer, bent on economy, issued instructions that the royal swans should be kept down to a dozen.—Argonaut.

Good at Arithmetic.

"For goodness' sake, John, how long did you boil these eggs?"

"Just as long as you told me to, my dear."

"I boiled them just twelve minutes."

"Twelve! Why, I told you that three minutes was long enough for an egg!"

"Yes, dear, but I boiled four of them."

A Sacrifice

By ANDREW C. EWING

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

I left St. Petersburg in the afternoon. When the guard closed the door of the compartment I was in I noticed a man sitting opposite me give a sigh of relief. Still, he continued to look out the window, as he had been doing, apparently dreading to see something or some one. The train moved out with accelerating motion, and the faster it rolled the more relieved looked my fellow passenger.

Suddenly I heard him give a smothered cry, and, following the direction of his eyes, I saw a man running like a deer to catch the train. The passenger put his head out the window to see the end of the race, drew it in and gasped:

"My God!"
"Did he catch the train?" I asked.
"He jumped on to the footboard of the last car."

"My friend," I said, "I judge that you are a political refugee."

"Why do you think that?" said the man, stiffening up.

"The man who ran to catch the train is a government official. His object is to arrest you."

"Who are you?"

"An American."

"Ah! Americans are our friends. I will tell you. That man, as you say, will arrest me, and I shall be sent to Siberia. Help me!"

"How can I do that?"

"We are not unlike—the same height, both light hair and beard, both wear glasses. Give me your traveling coat and your golf cap and put on these Russian clothes. When the train stops an officer will come here to arrest me. But by that time it will be night. I shall pretend to be asleep in my corner with the collar of your coat pulled up about my face and your cap down over my eyes. You say, with a groan of despair, 'I am caught at last, but I will not live to go to the mines!'"

While they are removing you I shall watch for an opportunity to get away before they discover their mistake."

When the scheme was first proposed to me I had not the remotest idea of perpetrating it. But since it was an hour before the train stopped he had that time to persuade me. I should have yielded, but I was not sure that I would not suffer a long term of imprisonment for interfering in the man's capture. Before we had reached the station he had promised if I would take his place to see that the American minister was made aware of the matter, and as the train slowed down, not being able to resist his pathetic appeals, I adopted his plan.

All happened as he had predicted. As soon as the train stopped the coach door was thrown open and a lantern thrust into the compartment. True to my promise, I cried out in Russian, "I am caught at last, but I will not live to go to the mines!"

I was jerked out of the coach and hurried away. What became of the "political" I did not know. I was taken into the station, given a closer inspection and the deception discovered. By the next train I was taken back to St. Petersburg and thrown into prison.

The next morning I asked for writing materials, which were given me, and wrote a note to the American minister, stating that I was an American citizen in a Russian prison and asking his assistance. The day passed and I heard nothing. A week, a month, went by. I gave up hope and cursed myself for a fool.

One morning a young man came to see me, saying that he was from the embassy. I asked him why he had been so long in taking cognizance of my note. He replied that no note had been received, but the very next day after my arrest the minister had been informed of all that had happened. He had since been trying to get the government to take the matter up. I had been twice moved from one prison to another, and each time the embassy had been informed of my removal. In short, my note to the minister had not been delivered, but some one had been keeping watch over me and informing the minister of my condition.

After another month's hard work the embassy succeeded in securing my release on condition that I leave the country immediately. I was escorted over the line, wondering the while whether I had been a fool or a fine fellow. I had no sooner got beyond the border than a man stepped up to me and said, "I am to take you to the count."

"Thanks, no. I don't want to go to any count. I've had enough of this business."

But he persuaded me and took me to a house where I was received by—the man whom I had helped to escape. He rushed forward and gave me a bear hug and kissed me on both cheeks. When his transports had subsided he said:

"I kept my promise. The government tried to lose you, but my friends prevented. After you left me I got out of the car and escaped. I have been here ever since. I am a noble, rich, and half my fortune is yours."

"No," I said. "It feels so good to have made one sacrificial act that you can't pay me for doing it."

But I found it impossible to get rid of the count's gratitude. I went to Paris and had no sooner arrived than a number of Russians called on me. One offered me a box at the opera, another the use of a house. There was nothing I wished for that was not forthcoming.

"More railroad facilities," says the Asheville Gazette-News, "is one of Asheville resolutions." Same here. This town needs a competing railroad badly. Or if not that, speedy and decisive relief from discrimination in freight rates.

Some of our exchanges are giving themselves a good deal of concern over the question of whether or not the Panama canal shall be fortified. Isn't the discussion a little premature? The canal hasn't been dug yet.

Attorney General Wickersham is said to be prosecuting a general campaign to imprison corporation officials who have violated the anti-trust law. In connection with violations of this law, Woodrow Wilson coined the phrase, "Guilt is personal." It fits the situation exactly. A corporation can't be imprisoned, but the men who do its dirty work can.

But it is hardly fair to the Democrats to attempt to take their paramount issue out of politics.—Durham Herald.

Right. The tariff, at all events, should remain in politics until the Democrats elect a President on it. Being wrong on the tariff question has been very costly to the "Grand Old Party" and of course it wants to turn the tariff over to a commission and then try to forget it.

While felicitating Mr. Z. V. Taylor on the promotion which has come to him we don't want him to overlook, when he goes to another city to live, his obligations to Greensboro. This city has made a number of concessions to Mr. Taylor's companies, based on the promises of good things that his capitalist clients had in store for Greensboro. He will be held strictly to those promises and we have no doubt that it will be his pleasure to fulfill them.

Aviator Moisant fell to his death near New Orleans Saturday morning. Aviator Arch Hoxsey met his doom in a similar manner Saturday afternoon at Los Angeles. Thirty five "air men" lost their lives in 1910. But such was the progress made in flying in heavier-than-air machines that it would not be safe to say, in view of the many fatalities, that reasonably safe aviation will never be realized. In all probability it will be. The sceptical ones said a few years ago that no sort of aviation, safe or unsafe, would ever be achieved. But they have been "shown." Wonderful are the accomplishments of the genius of man.

We join with many others in lamenting the loss to the community and to his family of the late Maj. Joseph M. Morehead. A man of extraordinary social charm, he was liked and his companionship enjoyed by all to whom he chose to reveal himself. His devotion to Guilford Battle Ground was one of his most conspicuous traits, so much so that to mention the Battle Ground was to suggest Maj. Morehead and to name Maj. Morehead was to suggest the Battle Ground. To develop a battle ground requires a fervid patriotism and a sort of genius that the average man does not possess. Major Morehead had the patriotism and the genius and the Battle Ground became, under his administration, a credit alike to the community, the State and the nation. In years to come earnest praise will attach to Greensboro because of its Battle Ground and the thanks will, in a very large degree, be due to Joseph M. Morehead. He filled an important place in the community and a place which, we fear, will not be filled again as he filled it.

The New Year is the wrong time to feel blue and discouraged. No matter how badly one's plans may have gone awry, matters surely could be worse. No matter how distressing the condition in which a man finds himself, he doesn't have to look far before there comes under his observation some one in worse condition. No matter how far one has wandered from the path of duty and rectitude, there remain respect and admiration for him if he grapples with his besetting sin, overcomes it and tramples it under his feet. There is more charity in the minds of men than ever before and no man who errs can safely conclude that the hearts of men are steered against him. On the contrary there may be sympathy for him and understanding of him where he least suspects it. Men pass you on the street and, reading anguish on your face, breathe a prayer for you. On all sides, if men in raging distress and remorse but knew it, there are those who wish them speedily rid of their troubles and who are ready to forgive and forget their frailties.

RUSSELLISM DISCUSSED

Pastors Staley and Kendrick Preach On One of the New "Doctrines."

At two Baptist churches in the city Sunday night, the ministers discussed the doctrines of Russellism. Rev. W. F. Staley, pastor of Asheville Street Baptist church, discussed the Christ of Russellism. He said in part:

Millennial Dawnism, or Russellism has its peculiar view of the person of Christ. Many attempts are made to attack the deity of Christ. But Russellism presents Christ as a creature who has passed through two forms of creature being, and is now in his third and final form. In the first two forms of his existence. He was not partaker of the divine nature, but in the last, the form in which He now exists, He has been exalted to the order of Divine being.

Mr. Russell does not believe that Christ had the divine nature before He became incarnate. He was a "spirit being, and changed His nature to become man." He gave up the one for the other, but this is contrary to scripture. For Matt. 1:23 tells us He was Emmanuel (God with us), our Lord is looked upon as being, before His incarnation, a being higher in rank than the angels; but lower than God. But John 1:1 declares he was a partaker of divine nature before His incarnation. Christ was the second person of the trinity and was equal with God, Phil. 2:6.

Mr. Russell says, "Neither was Jesus a combination of the two natures human and spiritual," the blending of two natures produces neither the one nor the other, but an imperfect, hybrid thing which is obnoxious to the divine arrangement." But the Bible asserts that Christ was "God manifest in the flesh." 1 Tim. 3:16.

Mr. Russell states further that "The human nature had to be consecrated to death before he could receive even the pledge of the divine nature," and not until that consecration was actually carried out and he had actually sacrificed the human nature even unto death did our Lord Jesus become a full partaker of the divine nature," and this is a denial of scripture and, further he says: "Immortality is ascribed only to the divine nature originally to Jehovah only, subsequently to our Lord Jesus in his present highly exalted condition."

Mr. Russell degrades Christ to a rank inferior to God. This is shocking blasphemy, and lastly speaking of His exalted position, says "We must bear in mind also that our Lord is no longer a human being." But the scriptures say, "There is one God, and one Mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." 1 Tim. 2:5. Also Acts 7, 55, 56. Stephen saw the son of man standing at the right hand of God, and Christ said to Doubting Thomas, John 20:27, "Reach hither thy finger and behold my hands." The angels' testimony was this same Jesus, Acts 1:11. Will return again and a spirit hath not flesh and bones.

Mr. Russell says "We don't know what became of the body of Christ, whether it was dissolved into gases or whether it is still preserved some where as the grand memorial of God's love of Christ's obedience, and our redemption

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

no one knows." Thus he denies the fact of the resurrection. This is contrary to the teaching of God's word. The Christ of Mr. Russell is an imaginary one for he is not the Christ of God nor scripture. Many have been and are being deluded with this subtle heresy, and people should beware of such insidious and dangerous doctrine. Cling to the word of God, and not rest your faith in the wisdom of men.

Rev. R. G. Kendrick, of Forest Avenue, spoke from the text "To die is gain." His line of thought was to show why death was a distinct gain to the Apostle Paul. In the development of his theme he took occasion to show how utterly contradictory of the scriptures is the doctrine known as "Russellism." He showed from the scriptures that death was not extinction—a ceasing to be nor were the spirits of the dead consigned to the grave with the body as "Russellism" holds. "Death," said he, "is a 'separation'—an 'abandonment.' Spiritual death is the separation of the spirit of man from God—God's abandonment of the soul. Physical death is the abandonment of the body by the spirit. And this separation of the spirit from the tenement of clay was at once into the spirit world—that of the redeemed spirit into the immediate presence of Christ and that of the wicked at once into the realm of despair." In taking this position he said he planted himself squarely upon the plain teachings of the scriptures challenging a successful refutation of the position taken.

Next Sunday night he will discuss the question of the duration of the punishment of the wicked, answering the question as to whether it is eternal or not. He requests The Telegram to say that the public is cordially invited to come and hear a discussion of these important and timely pulp themes.

SUPERIOR COURT

Judge Daniels, the New Judge, Presides Afternoon Session Adjourned Out of Respect To Major Morehead.

The January term of Guilford Superior court convened yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, with Judge F. A. Daniels on the bench. This is the first court over which Judge Daniels has presided, he having been but recently inducted into office.

There are about fifty cases on the calendar, all of which are of more or less minor importance.

Della Watson was granted an absolute divorce from B. T. Watson on the ground of abandonment and infidelity on the part of the husband.

In the case of A. L. Foster, who made an assignment recently, judgment was given to the following creditors of this city, for the full amounts due, including interest: American Commission Company, $298.25; G. T. McLamb & Co., $223.81; Patterson Co., $496.89; Scott-Sparger Co., $284.06.

The first case on docket for today is that of R. W. Fann, administrator of the estate of M. E. Fann, vs. the North Carolina Railway Co. The suit is entered for recovery of $20,000, damages for causing the death of M. E. Fann.

There was no afternoon session yesterday, court being adjourned out of respect to Major Morehead, who died Sunday.

JURORS DRAWN FOR FEBRUARY COURTS

Civil Term Begins February Thirteenth and Criminal Term on February Twentieth—Commissioners Transact Routine Business, Also Sell Number of Mules and Wornout Tools.

The County Commissioners were in regular monthly session yesterday, the business being mostly of a routine nature, such as approving bills and auditing accounts. At 12 o'clock they repaired to the county hitching lot where fifteen mules were auctioned off, the average price being $93.31. About $50 worth of wornout castings, shovels, picks, etc., were sold.

Yesterday afternoon two sets of jurors were drawn, one for the February term of civil court, to begin on Feb. 13, and the other for the criminal term beginning Feb. 20.

Jurors for the civil term follow: Mittan Cook, Jas. Dennis, J. B. Whitsett, A. W. McAllister, John Kime, A. L. Rigan, Rufus Gordon, W. L. Daniel, S. H. Hanner, J. O. Leonard, C. O. Reynolds, C. A. Vickery, R. L. Basick, J. A. Case, Jas. W. Barker, J. L. Bull, J. F. Welker, W. H. Idol.

Jurors for the criminal term beginning Feb. 20:

Julius H. Apple, P. D. Simpson, Syd Greeson, E. M. Andrews, J. R. Woods, J. A. Short, O. W. Hines, R. A. Lee, J. C. Foust, J. W. Moorefield, J. A. Neece, W. W. Hayworth, C. F. Loman, A. W. Stewart, R. E. Steele, B. F. Stack, H. A. Whiteley, W. H. Ragan.

BEFORE JUDGE EURE.

Several Defendants Charged With Larceny in Court Yesterday Morning.

The majority of the cases on the docket in Municipal court yesterday morning were against defendants charged with stealing. Mary Johnson and Nellie Wilson were charged with larceny, found guilty by the court and sentenced to serve four months each in the workhouse.

Ollie Henry, McDonald Woods and Charlie Wagstaff, the three negroes who broke into Howard's store the other night, were arraigned, all three being found guilty. They were sentenced to a year each on the county roads. Besie DeGraffenried, the negro woman who assisted the negroes in concealing the stolen goods, was convicted. Judge Eure suspended judgment on payment of costs and promise of good behavior in the future.

Federal Court.

The adjourned term of federal court, which adjourned from December, will convene Thursday morning, but there will be no jury trials before Monday. The jurors have been notified that they need not report before Monday. The only case of importance is the libel case against N. Glenn Williams.

STUBBORN FIRE ON ELM STREET

Mr. J. H. West, who conducts a confectionery and novelty establishment and lunch counter, estimates his loss at between $5,000 and $10,000, about half covered by insurance. J. Oppleman, pawnbroker, was not in the city last night and it could not be learned the value of his stock, but is worth about $10,000, with only $1,000 insurance. Messrs. Stout's loss is not known, but it will amount to several thousand dollars. The loss to the owners will amount to several thousand dollars, the insurance not being known. The Atlantic & Pacific Company, which is located next door north, suffered a loss of several hundred dollars from water, which soaked through the floors and on the stock.

The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue. The building was one of the oldest on the street and, of course, the fixtures were not of the most modern kind. It is supposed that the fire originated on the third floor where a flue goes through the floor and there being no one in that portion of the building smoldered for some time before it was discovered. A negro boy employed by Mr. West sleeps in a room on the third floor, but he had not been in his room since morning. Had the flames gained much greater headway it would have been almost impossible to have saved any of the building. As it was only the steady and determined work of the firemen kept the fire from spreading.

Bible and Literary Training School.
The fall term of the Bible and Literary Training School closed on December 23, 1910. It has been a very successful term and the students have done good work.

The Christmas convention or revival services began just after its close and a large number of souls came through to God in the old-fashioned way.

The winter term opens today and the prospects for the school in the future are very encouraging. Students from different parts of the country have entered during Christmas holidays and we are looking for others to yet come.

The chapel services from 8 to 9 a. m. consist of a Bible lecture and are free to all who may desire to come to it.

Regular preaching services at the church on Sundays at 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p. m. All are invited. W. C. Cox, Pastor.

WOODMEN MEET

Able Addresses—Fine Luncheon—Good Music.

The Modern Woodmen of America met last night and heard two able addresses, one by Mr. W. T. Grant, State deputy head consul, on "Woodcraft," and another by Mr. Wray, district deputy.

After the lectures a delicious and varied course of sweet meats was served. Music was furnished with the banjo, played by Jule Watson, and the guitar, played by W. T. Breeden.

The evening spent was declared to be one of the most delightful and entertaining, as well as one of the most profitable, in the history of the order in this city.

THE TWO NEW STATES.

Arizona and New Mexico and the Constitution They Have Written.

Philadelphia Record.
Arizona and New Mexico have adopted constitutions, the formal question of their admittance to the Union is now with Congress and the President, in accordance with the act to enable them to become States. Of the two constitutions that of New Mexico appears to be the less radical in some of its provisions. As the 135,000 inhabitants of their ancient prestige and of their language it was necessary to deal cautiously with them. In general, the Constitution is patterned after the organic laws of most of the States. Provision is made for creating a commission to control corporations. While the referendum is adopted, the initiative is rejected. All judges must be elected by the people. Women are granted the right of suffrage for school directors and on school questions. There is a clause in the Constitution claiming a strip of territory regarded as belonging to Texas which is likely to lead to endless friction and controversy. Barring this the Constitution of New Mexico appears to be conservative enough.

Arizona's Constitution, on the other hand, goes the whole length of modern "improvements" in the art of government. It contains provisions for the initiative and referendum; popular votes on amendments to the Constitution on the demand of 15 per cent of the qualified citizens; removal of elective officers; vote of the people to designate to the Legislature their choice of United States Senator; prohibition of the "lobby system;" non-partisan election of judges, and the trial of minors under 18 years of age in juvenile courts. Besides these things the Constitution provides for strict control of corporations, regulation of rates of railroads for freights and passengers on the basis of their actual value, and liability of employers for injuries to their employees.

The vital question with Congress will be whether any provisions of these two constitutions conflict with the Constitution of the United States. With this limitation the people of a State have a right to adopt Constitutional provisions which other people regard as extremely impracticable and absurd, as that concerns themselves alone. Compliance with the Federal Constitution is the supreme test. But it is not improbable that the convention of New Mexico may be sent back to take out of the Constitution the clause claiming territory within the boundary of Texas, since that would be certain to provoke a conflict on the very threshold of the newly admitted State. For the rest, Congress will hardly make serious objection to admission of these two Territories to the Union as States because of the new ideas engrafted upon their constitutions.

FIRST TYPEWRITER.

It was a Clumsy Machine and Practically Useless.

Most persons will be surprised to learn that the typewriting machine is not, as they imagine, a distinctly modern invention. So long ago as 1714 a patent was taken out in England by Henry Mill for "a machine for impressing letters, singly and progressively, as in writing, whereby all writings may be engrossed in paper so exact as not to be distinguished from print."

His machine was, however, a clumsy one and practically useless. It was not until over a century later (1829) that anything more in this line was attempted. Then the first American typewriter, called a "typographer," was patented by W. A. Burt.

In 1823 a machine was produced in France having a separate key lever for each letter, and between the years 1840 and 1860 Sir Charles Wheatstone invented several machines which are now preserved in the South Kensington museum, London.

In 1873 C. L. Sholes, an American, after five or six years' work, succeeded in producing a machine sufficiently perfect to warrant extensive manufacture. He interested a firm of gun manufacturers in it, and in 1874 the first model of the modern typewriter was put upon the market.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Ancient Bridge Superstition.

A primitive notion existed among the Romans and other races that a bridge was an offense and injury to the river god, as it saved people from being drowned while fording or swimming across and robbed the deity of a certain number of victims which were his due. For many centuries in Rome propitiatory offerings of human victims were made every year to the Tiber. Men and women were drowned by being bound and flung from the wooden Sublican bridge, which, till nearly the end of the republican period, was the one and only bridge across the Tiber in Rome.

Strategy.

The turkey was not a very large one, and Mrs. Pedagog's boarders began to be a little anxious on the subject of its going around. Finally the last bit was distributed, and the idiot, glancing at his portion, observed that he had drawn the neck and the pope's nose. "Ah, Mrs. Pedagog," said he, with a genial smile, "you are a wonder at making both ends meet."—Lippincott's.

Looking Ahead.

Young Wife (in passion)—I'm going home to my mother! Husband (calmly)—Very good; here's money for your railway fare. Wife (after counting it)—But that isn't enough for a return ticket.—Every Woman's Magazine.

Early Intimations.

Fond Mother—Fm sure Horace will be a great astronomer when he grows up! This is the third time this week he has cried for the moon!—Bystander.

Set not thyself to attain much rest, but much patience.—Thomas a Kempis.

Ancient Gardens.

The Egyptians were conversant with the art of landscape gardening, though they had to contend with the flatness of the land. Water, however, as an adjunct was often called into play, for there was the inexhaustible Nile. We have three plans of their gardens, as the one found in the tomb of Meryeat Tell el Amaron, which gives us the perfect idea of how a grand garden was laid out. We have, too, pictures of Egyptians reclining on chairs and fishing in these artificial lakes.

Useless Speculation.

"I often wonder," an elderly wife said sadly one day to her husband, "whether all those vows and protestations you made me during our courtship were really true?" "Well, my dear," the husband answered mildly, "what's the difference whether they were true or not, since we both believed them?"—Washington Star.

Business Is Business.

Drummer—And so our friend your husband is gone! He dealt with me for twenty years. Weeping Widow—Yes, and if you had come a fortnight earlier you would have found him still among the living. Drummer—Do you think he left any order for me?—Fliegende Blätter.

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man.—Daniel Webster.

Not a Sample.

"If all your rooms are like this one," said the prospective tenant, opening a door and peeping in, "we won't look at your flats. The rooms are entirely too small."

"Go slow!" responded the janitor. "That is the telephone booth."—Washington Herald.

LAWS OF WARS.

The Code Now in Use Among All the Civilized Nations.

The "laws of war" as at present formulated by the civilized nations forbid the use of poison against an enemy; murder by treachery, as, for example, assuming the uniform or displaying the flag of a foe; the murder of those who have surrendered, whether upon conditions or at discretion; declarations that no quarter will be given to an enemy; the use of such arms or projectiles as will cause unnecessary pain or suffering to an enemy; the abuse of a flag of truce to gain information concerning an enemy's positions; all unnecessary destruction of property, whether public or private.

They also declare that only fortified places shall be besieged; open cities or villages not to be subject to siege or bombardment; that public buildings of whatever character, whether belonging to church or state, shall be spared; that plundering by private soldiers or their officers shall be considered inadmissible; that prisoners shall be treated with common humanity; that the personal effects and private property of prisoners, except their arms and ammunition, shall be respected; that the population of an enemy's country shall be considered exempt from participation in the war, unless by hostile acts they provoke the ill will of the enemy.

Personal and family honor and the religious convictions of an invaded people must be respected by the invaders and all pillage by regular troops or their followers strictly forbidden.—New York Herald.

KEEPING TAP ON THE CROPS

The Way the Agricultural Department Gets Its Information.

The details of the comprehensive system employed by the department of agriculture in gathering the crop information from all over the country are interesting. There are 30,000 township correspondents scattered all over the Union, whose duty it is to go carefully over the territory and submit each month concrete information as to the condition of all kinds of crops. In addition to this branch, 3,000 "county correspondents" send in separate reports from those of the township men. A state agent makes a further report direct from his agents, and an organization in direct communication with the department, comprising seventeen traveling "field agents," go about the country and make separate reports for groups of states. Special cotton correspondents are also employed to furnish accurate information concerning the cotton yield. Five different reports are sent to Washington each month by five different sets of correspondents. This safeguards the government crop reports for accuracy in local crop reports and keeps the great crop account and cost estimates for the millions of American farmers. These records are sent to the agricultural department. Officials of the bureau of statistics and a board go over all the five reports from five distinct groups of correspondents, and from all the figures a crop report estimate is distributed to 70,000 post-offices throughout the country every month.—National Magazine.

Optimism.

"How did you make out on the request for a raise?"

"All right. I was assured I'd get it."

"Fine! What did the boss say?"

"Well, he practically told me not to worry about it. He said, 'Forget it!'"

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

Certificate of Dissolution.

To All to Whom These Presents May Come—Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Aden Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. _____ Street, in the City of Greensboro, County of Guilford, State of North Carolina (Joseph Aden being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served) has complied with the requirements of Chapter 21, Revisal of 1905, entitled "Corporations" preliminary to the issuing of this certificate of dissolution:

Now, Therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 21st day of November 1910, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all of the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the records of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 21st day of November A. D. 1910.

DELICATE CHILDREN

Made Strong and Healthy by Vinol
"I wish I could induce every mother who has a delicate, sickly child, to try your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol."

"It restored our little daughter to health and strength after everything else had failed. It tastes so good she loved to take it—not a bit of cod liver oil taste.—Mrs. C. W. Stump, Canton, Ohio." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

The reason Vinol is so successful in building up puny, delicate, ailing children is because it is a combination of the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron. It contains no oil, and children love to take it and it cannot harm the most delicate child.

If we can induce you to try a bottle of Vinol as a body-builder and strength creator for your child, and you do not find it is all we claim, we will return your money on demand. Fariss-Klutzn Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

LOVERS POISONED.

Couple Dead on Sofa on the Eve of Wedding.

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 31.—A tragedy that has astounded the whole country here about was enacted at the home of Louis F. Elosser, merchant, 116 Taylor street, late this afternoon. His daughter, M. Grace Elosser, and her husband-to-be, Charles Twigg, a prominent merchant and horticulturist, of Keyser, W. Va., 23 miles west of Cumberland, were found dead seated on the sofa in the parlor. They were to have been married tomorrow.

The coroner is unable to determine whether it was suicide or murder and suicide.

Miss Elosser was the divorced wife of Maurice F. Willison. Mr. Twigg was a widower. He telephoned his fiancée from Keyser that he would be down on the noon train. He went to the Elosser home with the wedding ring. It did not fit and the couple had arranged to go to a jeweler tonight to have it fitted.

The couple were in the parlor alone from 1 until about 2:45 this afternoon. Members of the family heard them chatting merrily. At about 2 o'clock Miss Elosser telephoned a girl friend about the wedding. Soon after this all was still, but nothing was suspected. At length the girl's mother, who first called at the door, got no response and entered the room. She found her daughter and Twigg seated on the sofa. The man's head was hanging to one side. Mrs. Elosser took hold of the girl and found she was dead.

The bodies were removed to the undertaking rooms of Louis Stein, where a postmortem revealed death by cyanide poisoning. The stomach of the girl was terribly congested. The poison was in liquid form, but the bottle has not been located. The authorities are completely at sea over the tragedy.

Foley's Kidney Remedy—An Appreciation
L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Howard Gardner.

HOTEL BARS POODLE.

"Why, He Always Sleeps on Foot of My Bed," Says Mrs. Potter.

Richmond Dispatch in N. Y. World.
When Mrs. James Brown Potter, of New York, arrived in this city she went to the Jefferson Hotel, as usual, and registered, but when she started to take her pet French poodle to her room with her she was told that she was violating a rule of the hotel, and that the dog must go or both must go.

"Why, I always have been allowed to take my dog to my room with me," demonstrated the surprised lady. "I shall see the manager at once. This is outrageous."

In the absence of the manager the chief clerk was summoned, who also told her that she could not bring the dog into the living rooms of the house.

But my pet always sleeps on the foot of my bed," she continued. "He is just the cutest thing in the world, and"

"But, my dear madam!"

"And the manager of this hotel has let me take him in before. I am always allowed to take my pet with me in the St. Regis Hotel in New York."

The clerk remained steadfast and told Mrs. Potter that he was sorry that he could not accommodate her and the dog. Then Mrs. Potter scratched her name off the register and, calling a taxi cab, went with her pet to the home of her half-sister, Mrs. W. Frank Powers, at Dalea, Westhampton.

Solves a Deep Mystery.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism. Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE
Is a valuable friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.

PRESIDENT Z. V. TAYLOR

Greensboro Man Now Head of Charlotte's Traction and Lighting Plant.

Mr. Z. V. Taylor, of this city, has been elected president of the new Charlotte Electric Railway Company, the corporation in whose name the Southern Power Company holds the Charlotte traction and lighting plant. Mr. Taylor will go to Charlotte to live. He was in Greensboro yesterday and was congratulated by his friends on the post of prominence and responsibility at which he has been placed.

Sunday's Charlotte Observer had the following:

"While the Southern Power Company took charge of the local traction system at midnight, there were no changes in the personnel of the operating force, with the exception of the retirement of the high officials of the former company. At a meeting yesterday of the new Charlotte Electric Railway Company the following-named were elected directors: Messrs. J. B. Duke, Z. V. Taylor, L. C. Harrison and W. S. Lee. Officers were chosen as follows: Mr. Z. V. Taylor, president and Mr. E. C. Marshall, secretary and treasurer.

"Likewise directors and officers of the Charlotte Gas & Electric Company were chosen as follows: Messrs. Z. V. Taylor, W. S. Lee and A. V. Harrill, directors, and Mr. Z. V. Taylor, president; A. V. Harrill, vice president, D. G. Calder, treasurer and E. C. Marshall, secretary.

"The operating force that has been conducting the affairs of the two corporations under the general direction of President Latta has been retained and under the direction of the new officers, and particularly Mr. Taylor, formerly of Greensboro, will continue to operate the systems in the future.

"Mr. Taylor has been connected with the Greensboro Street Railway for some years and is regarded as one of the best equipped and most successful men in the South. He was for years a leading member of the Greensboro bar and only took up the traction end in connection with his other duties. He is young and what may be termed a very live wire."

The fellow who is continually in hot water doesn't always have a clean record.

IT IS ALL RIGHT

to ask a friend to do you a favor when it is impossible to secure the favor in any other way. But why ask a friend to go on your bond as surety when the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company can give better security than an individual at no extra cost for its faithful discharge of its duty as a trustee or executor or administrator. Why should you sign a bond by which your heirs, executors, administrators and assigns are held and firmly bound to pay for the default of others; perhaps after your death, every dollar of your estate? Tell your friend not to burden you with such a grave responsibility. Let the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company become responsible.

Talk this over with us—it will assist you.

J. W. FRY, President.

W. E. ALLEN, Treasurer.

Plans for the New Year

Your plans for the New Year will not be complete unless you have arranged for proper banking service. You should have a general account, subject to check, for handling the money that you use for current expenses. Then any money that you are not going to use immediately ought to be deposited in a Savings Account where the money will earn interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, compounded four times a year.

This Bank cordially invites your patronage.

American Exchange Bank,

CAPITAL $300,000.

J. W. SCOTT, Vice President.

F. H. NICHOLSON, Asst. Cashier.

Resolve to Save More!

The above is respectfully suggested as a suitable resolution. You will never grow rich on what you make. The size of your "pile" will depend on what you save. So resolve to save more and deposit your savings with the old reliable.
